

ASA-100 Update

Accreditation Program

- 286 Facilities globally accredited to ASA-100
- Approx. 6% of companies have more than one of their facilities accredited to ASA-100
- ASA-100 continues to have the highest percentage of companies on FAA AC 00-56A Database (44%)
- ASACB ISO 9001:2008 has certified 3 companies, both of which also hold ASA-100.

Trends

- ASA is continuing to see expansion of medium-large companies with the addition of external warehouses and/or sales offices.
- There appears to be continual growth in the Middle East and steady growth in SE Asia.
- Many more brokers have become accredited.
- Several smaller companies are doing more drop shipping, while others are beginning to outsource their warehousing and shipping/receiving.
- EASA continues to work on addressing suppliers and the recognition of third party accreditations.

ASA-100 Revision 3.6

- Implementation Deadline for Rev. 3.6 of the ASA-100 Standard has passed.
  - All ASA-100 companies must be compliant to the new revision at this time.
- New ASA-100 Certificates Issued
  - There are still some companies that have the old ASA-100 certificate design in use.
  - Old ASA-100 certificates have been deemed invalid. All ASA-100 companies should have a copy of their certificate in the new design.
- Note – ASA has been aggressively pursuing any company that is illegally using ASA's Trademark or providing misleading statements of affiliation to ASA.
  - <http://www.aviationsuppliers.org/Illegal-Use-of-Logo-and-False-Statements>
  - <http://www.aviationsuppliers.org/Lists/Databases>
    - ASA Member List
    - ASA-100 List
    - FAA AC 00-56A Database

|

This is to certify that the Quality System of

Company Name

Address
Address
Country

has met the requirements of the Aviation Suppliers Association's Quality System Standard "ASA-100" and FAA Advisory Circular 00-56A.

Certificate Number: xxxxxxxxxxxx
Initial Certificate Issued: xxxxxxxxxxxx
Re-Accreditation: xxxxxxxxxxxx
Valid Until: xxxxxxxxxxxx

Michele Dickstein
President
Aviation Suppliers
Association
February 28, 2012

