Scottsdale, AZ – President of International Aircraft Associates, Mitch Weinberg received the 2018 Edward J. Glueckler Award. As the recipient during the 20th year of this award presentation, Mr. Weinberg led the distribution community in uniform and reduction in unnecessary documentation requirements; regular speaker at industry events; promoted access to finance for the aftermarket community; and tirelessly served as an ASA Director for twenty years.

“Mitch exemplifies a commitment to the industry and ASA. His passion for aerospace business growth can be seen in his work with the South Florida Aviation Maintenance Council and Greater Ft. Lauderdale Alliance with an eye on assisting small aviation companies thrive,” said ASA President, Michele Dickstein. “Mitch has done numerous aviation promotions throughout South Florida and this action was on his own. He regularly promotes ASA while organizing meetings with industry and government personnel.”

Named for the founder and first President of the Aviation Suppliers Association, The Edward J. Glueckler Award is presented each year at the conference in recognition of outstanding commitment, dedication and contribution to ASA and the aviation industry.

Aviation Suppliers Association

Celebrating 25 years in the industry, the Aviation Suppliers Association (ASA), based in Washington, D.C., is a not-for-profit association, representing more than 645 global member companies that are positively shaping the aviation industry. Collectively, they lead critical logistics programs, purchasing efforts, and distribution of aircraft parts worldwide. Member companies include distributors, suppliers, surplus sales organizations, repair stations, manufacturers, airlines, operators, and other companies that provide services to the aviation parts supply industry. In addition, 350 companies have received global accreditation to the ASA-100 Quality System Standard and FAA Advisory Circular 00-56 since 1996. The Aviation Suppliers Association Certification Body (ASACB) is an ANAB accredited certification body for ISO 9001:2015, AS9100, AS9110 and AS9120 audits.
