About the Aviation Suppliers Association

The Aviation Suppliers Association (ASA), based in Washington, D.C., is a not-for-profit association, representing nearly 1075 global member companies. Collectively, they lead critical logistics programs, purchasing efforts, and distribution of aircraft parts worldwide. ASA's Board of Directors and Corporate Officers focus the organization's energies on regulatory and legal matters such as safety, international compliance, business promotion and ethical business practices that impact the aviation parts supply industry. ASA offers accreditation services to ASA-100 and certification services to ISO9001, ISO 27001, AS9100, AS9110 and AS9120. ASA also recognizes outstanding industry leadership and commitment with its annual Edward J. Glueckler Lifetime Achievement award as well as through its ASA Member-Choice Champion Awards. These awards focus on member companies and individuals in four separate Champion Award categories: Business, Quality Professional, Change and Contribution. The companies & individuals are nominated by and voted on by member peers. Member companies include distributors, suppliers, surplus sales organizations, repair stations, manufacturers, airlines, operators, and other companies that provide services to the aviation parts supply industry.
